

Job opportunity in Institute for Space-Earth Environmental Research, Nagoya University
(ISEE job opportunity announcement No.1 FY2026)

1. Job title and number of positions

Designated Assistant Professor, 1 position

2. Employer

Tokai National Higher Education and Research System (THERS)

3. Affiliation

Center for International Collaborative Research (CICR), Institute for Space-Earth Environmental Research (ISEE), Nagoya University

4. Job description

(Immediately after hired) The successful candidate is expected to work actively on the project "Characterizing the properties of European boreal aerosols and their relation to climatic processes", which is a joint research project between Institute for Space-Earth Environmental Research (ISEE), Nagoya University and Institute for Atmospheric and Earth System Research (INAR), the University of Helsinki. The expected research activities are: (1) characterizing European boreal forest aerosols based on mass spectrometry and other types of analysis of physico-chemical properties for aerosol samples collected on filters, with a focus on organic component, and (2) characterizing the aerosols from the viewpoints of emissions, formation, and transport, and inferring the roles of the aerosols on climatic processes. Based on activities 1 and 2, she/he is expected to present the results at scientific conferences and publish scientific papers. The work will be performed under the supervision and mentorship by Professor Michihiro Mochida in ISEE, and also by Professor Tuukka Petäjä in INAR, the University of Helsinki. The successful candidate is expected to have professional knowledge and research experience in observation-based atmospheric aerosol studies. Applications are welcome from those with good experience in aerosol mass spectrometry or other types of mass spectrometry, and data analysis for aerosol-related processes is an advantage. Proficiency in English (written and oral) is required.
(Scope of changes) Tasks specified by the Tokai National Higher Education and Research System.
